VII. Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C [or D] on your answer sheet to indicate the correct answer to each of the questions from 1 to 5.

① The nuclear family, consisting of a mother, father, and their children, may be more an American ideal than an American reality. Of course, the so-called traditional American family was always more varied than we had been led to believe, reflecting the very different racial, ethnic, class, and religious customs among American groups.

The most recent government statistics reveal that only about one third of all current American families fit the traditional mold and another third consists of married couples who either have no children or have none still living at home. Of the final one, about 20 percent of the total number of American households are single people, usually women over sixty-five years old. A small percentage, about 3 percent of the total, consists of unmarried people who choose to live together, and the rest, about 7 percent, are single, usually divorced parents, with at least one child. Today, these varied family types are typical, and therefore, normal. Apparently, many Americans are achieving supportive relationships in family forms other than the traditional one.

1. With what topic is the passage mainly concerned?

VIII. Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C [or D] on your answer sheet to indicate the correct answer to each of the questions from 1 to 5.

We may not be driving around in hover cars or eating tablets instead of tasty food, but in 10 years' time some things will be very different. The four - day working week will certainly be a reality, so we'll have a lot more time for leisure activities. But what else will be different?

If you ask a hundred people to look into the future, you will probably get a hundred answers. But two major themes seem to emerge from almost every prediction made. The first is variety in every aspect of our lives. We'll probably be living in what futurologists have called a 'multi - option society'. You may be married with 2.2 children, but this won't be the norm any more. It will simply be one of a number of choices, along with living in groups and living alone. The other huge influence on our lives will be micro technology - computers and telecommunications. Take work, for instance, factories will be run largely by robots, so they'll be cleaner places for the few people who work in them. Offices, too, will go electronic with the result that paper will almost completely disappear. More people will work from home at computers linked to a head office. Their homes may even be turned into 'electronic cottages', with Mum, Dad and even the children all sharing one or maybe two jobs.

1. In 2026, it will probably true that _____.

A. people will work longer hours

B. people will enjoy more new forms of entertainment

C. there will be no tasty food

D. the weekends will be longer

2. It can be inferred from the text that _____.

A. a hundred people were asked for opinions about the future

B. a hundred people surveyed answered differently about the future

C. different people tend to have different opinions

D. people are optimistic about the future

3. The word "emerge" in paragraph 3 is closet in meaning to _____.

A. disappear

B. discuss

C. evolve

D. come up

4. What is true of a "multi-option society"?

A. You will have to live alone if not married

B. It will be the norm to get married and have children

C. You may choose to live with other people in groups

D. You will be allowed to have no more than 2.2 children

5. What can be inferred about changes in the workplace?

A. More people will work from home instead of traveling to the workplace

B. Robots will replace all human beings in factories

C. People's home will go electronic and be turned in to offices

D. Paper will no longer exist in offices

D.WRITING
